Wednesday, 29 April 2020

Frequently asked questions on Verification of Life Extinct (VLE) by nurses working in community settings

- Training is available from HSC Clinical Education Centre via video conferencing and It will be important that the nurse is able to e-learning - see www.cec.hscnt.net
- using a self-assessment framework,
- Nurses can set up buddy systems whereby they can be called to undertake VLE under supervision should the need arise.
- Indirect supervision by way of peer review by telephone discussion / video call with a nurse VLE process.
- Smulated practice using a mannequin with remote supervision and assessment.
- Home or NIAS can be asked to provide peer

- You do not need to get permission to undertake VLE.
- It is important that nurses work in partnership with GP colleagues and that the GP practices that are linked to your nursing or residential care home or your community setting are aware that you have received training in VLE.

 - Recommendation: that the person is deceased and that you have completed VLE or that you believe the person is deceased. aware that you have received training in VLE.
- The person's GP should be informed that a nurse has Verified Life Extinct.

Q1: How can I achieve competence in Q3: What information does the GP need when I make a call to confirm

- articulate the circumstances leading up to the Nurses can deem themselves competent by person's death as this information will enable the GP to make a decision regarding the cause. using a self-assessment framework.

 Direct supervision from an experienced nurse.

 Certificate of cause of death (MCCD) or refer the case to the Coroner.
 - · The use of SBAR, which is a well-recognised set of prompts that promote assertive and effective communication by framing Information around the Situation, Background, from another home after having completed the Assessment and Recommendation, may assist documentation
- Situation: what are the circumstances of the colleagues working in Marie Curie, Hospice at home, relevant factors such as a recent fall or drug error, are there any suspicious circumstances, was the death expected etc.
- Q2: Do I need to get permission from the GP before I undertake VLE?

 Background: the individual story of the person; their age, medical condition, of the person of the second condition.
 - Assessment summary of the care and treatment provided to the person in the time Immediately prior to death.
 - and you are requesting a medical practitioner to undertake VLE.

www.publichealth.hscni.net

The Chief Nursing Officer and Chief Medical Offer recently requested assistance with expanding the role of verification of life extinct by nurses. In support of this, the PHA have produced a series of 'Frequently asked questions' and a draft 'Verification of Life Extinct (VLE) in a Nursing or Residential Care Home Policy' to enable care home providers to produce their own policy.

Details

Format A4,8pp and A4, 3pp, PDF only Target group Health professionals

Downloads

Attachment

Size

Tags

- coronavirus
- covid-19
- care homes
- healthcare professionals

Print