

In association with Belfast Health and Social Care Trust, the South Eastern Health and Social Care Trust, the Public Health Agency and the Association for Infant Mental Health (NI)

Infant Mental Health

Putting Theory Into Practice

Friday 10 June 2011 9.30am - 4.00pm

Trinity Conference Centre, Lisburn

This one day conference will up-date participants on the latest developments in the theoretical underpinning for early intervention and the delivery of Infant Mental Health Services. There will be an overview of practice interventions from primary to specialist services, with a strong focus on the development of workforce competency particularly in the Solihull Approach. This conference will be of benefit to all those managers, policy makers, practitioners and planners who are passionate about infant mental health and the necessity for early intervention. It will be of particular interest to those staff already trained in the Solihull Approach and to those who are considering either commissioning or receiving such training.

If you wish to reserve a place please email: eamon.mcmahon@belfasttrust.hscni.net

Or contact: Eamon McMahon, Family Therapist, CAMHS, 91 Hillsborough Road, Lisburn. Tel: 028 92501265

There is no cost for this workshop.

Print