

The consultation process in the Public Health Agency

The PHA recognises the importance of meaningful consultation. In fulfilling its equality duties, the PHA consults in a timely, open and inclusive manner, following the Equality Commission's Guiding principles.

Who do we consult with?

The PHA consults with representative groups and individuals of the Section 75 categories to obtain their views. These diverse perspectives are carefully analysed, and any resulting changes are reflected in the final document. The final version gets published in the Publications section of this website.

Learn more about the PHA's commitment to Equality.

View a list of current consultations within the Department of Health

Print