

What Really Matters? A Vision for Nursing in Older People's Services

This report focuses on the role of nurses in the care and support of older people and has been developed in partnership with Age NI. The work has seen the development of a co-design model of participation that can be used when working with key stakeholders including service users to review services.

The recommendations from this report include improvements in workforce, education and enhancing a vision for older people's nursing including career pathways in a range of care settings.

A DVD has been produced that is a resource that can be utilised to promote the work and to enhance input from users and peer facilitators for nurse education programmes at post reg and pre-reg training - <https://vimeo.com/183651614>
