The aim of this event is to obtain feedback from the stakeholders regarding the provision of Relationships and Sexuality Education (RSE) programmes in the community to younger people aged 12 to 19 years.

The Public Health Agency (PHA) is seeking feedback from young people, parents and community/voluntary organisations that have accessed the existing RSE programmes funded by the PHA in the community. We would particularly like to hear from service users (young people), youth leaders and organisations providing services for young people. We are also seeking the views of providing organisations with expertise in developing and delivering RSE in the community.

Target Audience:
