Service Development and Screening

Produced by the PHA in partnership with the Health and Social Care Board, health professionals, Health and Social Care Trusts and service users in response to a clear need from service users, these resources provide regional guidance for those women and couples who have experienced recurrent pregnancy loss. They explain the process of what happens next, treatments available and where to get further support.

There is an information booklet, a summary of voluntary and community support organisations outside the PHA and a care pathway for healthcare professionals.
