Having a child is a big life event, and it's natural to experience a range of emotions and reactions during and after your pregnancy. But if these emotions start to have a negative impact on your daily life, you might be experiencing a perinatal mental health problem. If this happens to you there is help available.

Perinatal Mental Health Symptom Checker - a resource designed to help new and expectant parents, and those around them, identify the signs of common and lesser-known perinatal mental health conditions.

MMHA Information Centre - online hub for parents, families, and friends which offers:

- Clear, reliable information about perinatal mental health
- Bitesize videos from Tessa van der Vord (@mentalhealth_midwife)
- Signposting to NHS and MMHA member support services.

All content has been developed with invaluable input from women with lived experience and clinical experts.
